This Video Game is an upcoming sandbox-style action-adventure video game being developed by Ubisoft Montreal and published by Ubisoft, the sequel to Assassin's Creed. It is set to be released worldwide on November 17, 2009 on Microsoft Windows, PlayStation 3 and Xbox 360 platforms.

Ubisoft's Yves Guillemot officially confirmed that Assassin's Creed II was in development on November 26, 2008 during the company's financial performance report.

There will be a "Black" limited edition release of Assassin's Creed II which will include a "Master Assassin" Ezio figurine. The figurine design features an upgraded Assassin cloak which Ezio earns in the advanced stages of the game. The limited edition also features 3 in-game bonus quests, a "Conspiracy" book detailing the game's development, and a soundtrack CD of the score by composer Jesper Kyd.
