

The Stop Motion of Patrick Boivin

Huge names have recently hired Patrick. Indochine, Tony Hawk, Iggy Pop and Google, to name a few

June 29, 2010 - 12:20

Patrick Boivin is a self-taught director who got his start working on a show called Phylacterecola for a Quebec broadcaster. He has directed several shorts that have been on the international festival circuit. He has created stop-motion animation videos, some of which have gotten over five million hits.

He is wowing everyone on the web with his technical proficiency, but most of all with his very own brand of cheeky pop cultural remixing. His agent is Woolf + Lapin Agency in Montreal and his manager is David Alpert from Circle of Confusion in LA.

```
div.overlay { width:1040px; height:528px; } #imgplay { margin:54px 0px 0px 190px; } #player { background:no-repeat url('/videos/news/2010/june/starwars.jpg') top center; } #splash, #player, #player embed, #player object { width:560px; height:272px; }
```

More Information at www.woolflapin.com. Image and Video Courtesy of Patrick Boivin. Video Encoding: 3Dup.com