Formed in January 1990, The Mill rapidly developed an international reputation as a pioneering visual effects company. To cover the international advertising community's most prominent centres, The Mill now operates from both London, New York and Los Angeles.

The Mill NY, established 2002, was the first London facility to set-up shop in the US. The Mill is continually involved in eminent campaigns for the likes of Levis and Nike whilst also working in other areas such as TV and music video.

The Mill has a knack of winning prestigious awards in all its disciplines, including Europe's only Oscar for visual effects for its work on Ridley Scott's Gladiator. Other accolades cover best post-production, animation and visual effects awards from D&AD, Clios and BTAA, to name just a few.
