

Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs. Second Trailer

Theatrical Release on September 18, 2009

July 06, 2009 - 21:50

It is a 2009 computer-animated film produced by Sony Pictures Animation and distributed by Columbia Pictures. This movie is inspired by the children's book of the same name by Judi Barrett and Ron Barrett. The film will be released in 3-D however, it is unknown if it will be only released in 3D in all theaters or just selected theaters that support Real-3D. It is Sony Pictures Animation's third film, not counting Open Season 2, a direct-to-video film.

Trailer

Video Game Trailer

Whereas the book had one speaking character and a loose narrative, the film introduces new main characters, and explains the origins of the unusual weather in the town of Chewandswallow.

Plot

A scientist (voiced by Bill Hader) has spent his entire life creating inventions that were unwanted or faulty. Finally while trying to solve world hunger he develops a method to directly convert water into food and releases the effects on the world. Hunger is eliminated as weather delivers food, but a problem of global proportions soon evolves, as the food weather gets out of control.

Co-writers and co-directors Philip Lord and Chris Miller say that it will be a homage to and parody of disaster movies such as Twister, Armageddon, Independence Day, and The Day After Tomorrow.

More Information at: www.cloudywithachanceofmeatballs.com. Image and Video Courtesy of Sony Pictures Digital Inc.