

The Miniature Set

Javier Leon Carrillo makes with CG techniques what you could believe is a miniature

March 11, 2010 - 15:09

He made this project as part of his personal demoreel.

The intention was to recreate the feel of a traditional stop motion set.

He wanted to create an environment that was something in between Coraline and Wallace and Gromit, and that looked hand made.

He made 100% of the design, modeling, texturing and lighting myself. Molinare Madrid helped him in rendering and compositing stuff.

```
div.overlay { width:1040px; height:644px; } #imgplay { margin:88px 0px 0px 190px; } #player { background:no-repeat url('/videos/news/2010/march/molinare.jpg') top center; } #splash, #player, #player embed, #player object { width:560px; height:340px; }
```

More Information at www.molinare.es. Image and Video ourtesy of Javier Leon. Video Encoding and Montage: 3Dup.com